Description

As a new customer, I want to be able to sign up using my social media account (e.g., Facebook, Google) for a faster registration process.

Acceptance Criteria:

- The system should offer the option to sign up using social media login buttons (e.g., "Sign Up with Facebook").
- The user should be directed to the social media platform's authorization process.
- The system should only request access to necessary user data from the social media platform (e.g., email address).
- Upon successful authorization, the user should be automatically registered using their social media account information.
- The user should be redirected to their account dashboard.

Description

As a potential customer, I want to sign up for an account using my email address and a strong password so I can easily purchase items.

- Acceptance Criteria:
 - The system should accept a valid email address that is not already registered.

- The system should enforce password complexity requirements (define minimum length, character types here).
- The user should be prompted to confirm the password by entering it again.
- The system should require the user to enter their first and last name.
- The system should allow the user to enter an optional phone number.
- The system should allow the user to enter a valid shipping address (define format requirements).
- The system should allow the user to opt-in to receive email notifications about promotions and new arrivals (optional).
- Upon successful registration, the user should be redirected to a confirmation page or their account dashboard.
- A confirmation email with a link to verify the user's email address should be sent (optional, consider security implications)
